A Heavy Storm.

Denver, April 30.—A heavy snow storm covered to-day in the mountains, while drizzling rain fell in the valleys. Fears are entertained that the snow will be fol- lowed by a rapid thaw that will result in serious washouts.

Greyson's Band.

Denver, April 30.—Captain Greyson's band of Westons, after two weeks of tramping, has reached within 50 miles of Denver. They expect to camp at Crook to-night.

The Great Northern Strike.

St. Paul, April 30.—To-day's develop- ments along the Great Northern line were disappointing to the company. Nothing of the mail trains were running, the promise that other trains would be started not being fulfilled. Reports from Min- neapolis last night that brotherhood en- gineers and firemen would report to their superintendents to-day. At St. Cloud none of them did report, but a speech from President Foye of the St. Cloud branch of the American Union caused them to leave their places again and everything is once more at a standstill at the division headquarters.

The four companies of the Third regiment went out to assist Marshal Croman of North Dakota, arrived at Grand Forks at 4 o'clock this morning. They are awaiting further orders. No men have yet been employed by the Great North- ern company. The company, however, expresses the opinion that it will be able to start all its trains in a day or two.

President Debs refused to be inter- viewed to-day further than to say that the Great Northern people were weak- ing, and that Mr. Hill would come to the terms of his employes in the next 40 hours. A sub-committee of engineers called upon Mr. Debs during the day and assured him that the brotherhoods were not a unit, and that 90 per cent. of the engineers and firemen would stick by the American Union. The Breckinridge train left here at 9:40 this morning, carrying 100 United States marshals. Of the 25 strikers arrested by the marshals and brought here 10 are still lying in jail. Should they be unable to secure bail they will be obliged to remain in custody un- til the June term of court.

This afternoon Debs and Howard made a proposition to the Twin City commercial bodies that the executive committee of the strikers shall argue with Mr. Hill the question at issue before a public mass meeting.

A SENATOR DEAD.

Stockbridge of Michigan a Victim of Angina Pectoris.

Chicago, April 30.—Francis Browne Stockbridge, United States Senator from Michigan, died in this city to-night a few minutes after midnight. The end came suddenly, although the Senator has been confined to his bed almost all the time since coming to Chicago from Wash- ington, April 20. He died at the resi- dence of his nephew-in-law, James L. Houghteling, Astor and Banks streets. His wife, Mr. and Mrs. Houghteling and the trained nurse, who gave the warning of the Senator's speedy dissolution to the family, were present at the death-bed. The Senator has been feeling better dur- ing the days and hoped to be able to leave for Kalamazoo, his Michigan home, but the physicians did not share the hopes of the dying man. While the family was at dinner word was brought by the nurse which summoned all to the bedside. In three minutes the Senator breathed his last. Death was caused by angina pec- toris.

The funeral services will be held in Kal- amazoo next Thursday in St. Luke's Episcopal church, of which the Senator has been a life-long member. The inter- ment will also take place there. His two sisters, Mrs. W. D. Houghteling and Mrs. Theodore T. Shieldon, are visiting at Asheville, N. C. The Senator has been in poor health for several years, and was on his way to California by order of his physician when taken ill here.

FRANK HATTON DEAD.

A Distinguished Journalist and Politician of Washington.

Washington, April 30.—Frank Hatton, editor of the Washington Post, died at 4:20 p. m. Mr. Hatton was stricken with paralysis while at work at his desk last week. His condition seemed to improve after the shock, and his friends and fami- ly felt up to to-day very much en- couraged, but the physicians held out no hope that he would ever perfectly re- cover. His condition was aggravated by Bright's disease, and this morning all hope was given up. His end was pain- less.

Frank Hatton was born in Cambridge, Ohio, April 28, 1846. He began his jour- nalistic career in the office of the Cadiz Ohio Republican while he was still a boy. Upon the breaking out of the war of the rebellion young Hatton enlisted in the 9th Ohio infantry, was commissioned as a lieutenant in 1864, served through the war, coming out as a colonel. In 1869 he went to Burlington, Iowa, and secured an interest in the Hawkeye, which he re- tained until 1874, when he was made postmaster of Burlington. In 1881 he was appointed assistant postmaster-general, and in 1884 succeeded General Gresham as postmaster-general, in which office he served until the close of President Ar- thur's administration. Mr. Hatton was the youngest cabinet officer, except Ar- exander Hamilton, who ever served the government. During the period of his of- ficial career he was also connected with The National Republican of Washington. In July, 1884, Mr. Hatton took up his residence in Chicago and assisted in the re-organization of the Mail, of which he became editor-in-chief.

New York Stock Market.

New York, April 30.—Money on call has been easy at 1 per cent.; last loan at 1, closing offered at 1 per cent. Time mer- cantile, 3 1-4@4 per cent.

The Industials again led the stock mar- ket both in point of activity and advance. Sugar alone figured for 125,600 shares, ranging between 101 3-4 and 107 3-8, clos- ing at 105 7-8, a gain of 1 7-8 per cent. for the day. The stock completely over- shadowed transactions in the general list, and at times the excitement ran high. The rise was based on Washing- ton advices that the company, as well as other industrial concerns, will receive all the protection in the shape of duties they require. Lead was another features, and sold up to 42 3-8 for the common and 88 1-4 for the preferred. Increased duties and a belief that the dividend would be declared on the common this week account for the improvement. Chicago Gas, Tobacco, Dis- tillers and General Electric also made gains, but subsequently Chicago Gas dropped from 64 3-8 to 62 3-8 on reports from Washington that application for an order restraining the attorney-gen- eral from beginning quo warranto pro- ceedings had been denied, and that the Mutual Fuel Gas company will be granted a franchise by the common council to- night. American Tobacco held strong un- till a late hour, when it was announced that Attorney-General Moloney of Illi- nois had decided that the company was a trust and doing business in violation of Il- linois laws. It was inferred that he would begin proceedings against the com- pany as soon as he had disposed of the Chicago Gas matters.

It was rumored in bond circles that one important county in Illinois was in the local market for a big loan. Some had refused, but it will be interesting to watch the outcome of the efforts of Western of- ficials to attract outside capital just at this juncture. The total sales were 276,- 251 shares.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds were strong. Sales, $1,118,000.

Exchange on London, $4.87½@$4.87¾. Sight drafts, $4.88½@$4.88¾.

Smallpox in Chicago.

Chicago, April 30.—Twenty-five new cases of smallpox were reported to the health department to-day. Most of them were from the Tenth ward, where the fight of extermination is being waged chiefly by the health officers.

A LIVELY DEBATE.

Tariff Changes Cause Interesting Times in the Senate.

A QUESTION HARD TO ANSWER.

Senator Wolcott Wants to Know What Further Changes Are Proposed in the Bill—Voorhees Declares Income Tax Will Stay.

Washington, April 30.—In the Senate to-day, early in the session, Mr. Wolcott (Rep.) of Colorado started one of those lively discussions on the tariff bill which marked the sessions of Friday and Sat- urday last.

"Ever since the tariff bill was re- ported," he said, "some of us on this side of the chamber have availed ourselves of every opportunity given us to vote in favor of taking up the tariff bill. Know- ing that the majority must be in control of the bill, we have done this, and not because we believe that the bill is a good one—for we believe that it is, in some re- spects, the worst possible bill that could become a law—but, because we believe that some legislation is definitely better than doubt and uncertainty on the ques- tion. We have endeavored to add our presence to the counting of a quorum, we shall vote to co-operate with the ma- jority on reaching a vote at earliest pos- sible moment. This being so, I rise to ask the Senator from Tennessee (Mr. Harris) if it is not fair to us that he should inform us whether or not this is the bill on which we shall be called upon to vote.

"As has been widely and [illegible] re- ported," he continued, "that the income tax provision is to be emasculated, or changed; that the sugar trust is to re- ceive an additional differential tariff, it in all about a quarter cent a pound, that specific duties are to be exchanged for an ad valorem; that the lead trust is to receive from 1 1-2 to 2 cents additional, and that then with the income tax out, the bill is to go through booming. I do think that those of us who want to help get the question settled are entitled to know whether or not this is the bill on which we are to be called upon to vote."

Mr. Harris—I stated to the Senate on Saturday, and I am ready to re-state it here and now, and at all times, and I am ready to compromise conflicting opin- ions, and am willing to make modifica- tions where they are absolutely necessary to pass a tariff reform bill. Exactly what those amendments are to be I am not prepared to tell the Senate. I am pre- pared to tell the Senator that whenever the Finance committee shall have determi- ned on any specific amendment I shall insist upon its being reported to the Sen- ate, printed, and laid on the table, so that every Senator can scrutinize it and be prepared to express his judgment upon it.

Mr. Teller (Rep.) of Colorado—It is not a question as to what the Senator from Tennessee is willing to do, but as to what he expects to be done. Does the Senator expect amendments of the radical charac- ter that we are told of to be offered?

Mr. Harris—As to the radical charac- ter that we are told of, I cannot an- swer. I do not know what the Senator has been told, nor do I know to what extent those changes are resting on news- paper extracts, newspaper declarations and newspaper absurdities.

Mr. Aldrich (Rep.) of Rhode Island said that it was evident that the majority of the Finance committee was as far from agreeing as to the terms of the bill as it was three months ago. It was due to the country and to the Senate to know what bill the Senate was asked to consider.

"House bill 4851," said Mr. Harris, "is the bill which the Senate is asked to con- sider." (Laughter).

"Yes," Mr. Aldrich asserted, "with amendments that are to be suggested by the Democratic members of the Finance committee until we know the general scheme which is to be proposed to us there can be no intelligent discussion."

He produced the interview with Secre- tary Carlisle as published in this morn- ing's papers, and was about to read and comment upon it, when a point of order was made by Mr. Vest (Dem.) of Mis- souri. The Vice-President, however, de- cided against the point of order, stating that he had no authority under the rules to prevent the reading of the interview.

Mr. Allen (Pop.) of Nebraska objected, however, to further debate—the pending motion—to take up the tariff bill, being an undebatable one.

The motion was agreed to, and the bill was taken up. Thereupon Mr. Quay (Rep.) of Pennsylvania moved to lay it aside and to take up a bill for a bridge across the Monongahela river at Pitts- burg. The motion was rejected—yeas, 19; nays, 32.

Mr. Aldrich referred to Mr. Voorhees's statement last Saturday that he (Mr. Aldrich) had uttered an untruth in saying that some 200 amendments had been agreed to in conference between the Sec- retary of the Treasury and some Demo- cratic members of the Finance committee.

Mr. Voorhees disclaimed any intention of personal offense. He had merely wanted to convey to the Senate and to the country the fact that Senator was talking on false information, as he was now. He wished to make no question of veracity with the Senator from Rhode Island; but his information had informed him falsely, and if, after that, he made the assertion again, he would do it on his own responsibility.

Mr. Aldrich—I am informed, and believe that at this very moment, in the neigh- borhood of 200 amendments have been practically agreed upon between the high contracting parties which will change completely the character of the pending measure. Now—what I desire to impress upon the Senate and upon the country is the fact that to-day, three months after the passage of the bill by the House of Representatives, the official organs of the majority in this body are no nearer a conclusion as to the character of the bill than they were three months ago.

Mr. Mills characterized the discussion started by the other side as a pyrotech- nical display from the enemy, set up for the amusement of the groundlings and of those in the pit. He declared that the rules of the Senate ought to be changed, and then the bill which responded to the wishes of the majority would pass promptly.

Mr. Voorhees quoted from the Record a few passages in Mr. Sherman's speech of last Saturday, comprising the sentence: "This bill has never been considered by the Committee on Finance," and pro- duced the journal of the committee show- ing that the bill had been reported to the full committee on the eighth day of March, Mr. Sherman being present; that it remained subject to consideration by the committee until the 20th of March; and that it was actually considered by the full committee for 12 days, or 10 days excluding Sundays, and that amendments had been offered by Senators Sherman and Morrill—discussed and some of them agreed to. He added that his respect for the character of the Senator from Ohio prevented him from characterizing him as the circumstances would warrant reck- lessness and carelessness evidence in that Senator's statement.

Mr. Sherman insisted that his state- ment was substantially true, because an attempt to change had been agreed upon in advance of the majority of the com- mittee, was so utterly useless that the minority should have declined to present any amendment at all. The fact re- mained, he said, that the bill had not been treated as other tariff bills had been treated.

Mr. Voorhees read the journal of the Finance committee from the 8th to the 20th of March, to prove the correctness of his assertion in contradiction of Mr. Sherman's statement, and added, with some emphasis:

"Whatever may be floating in the air, the income tax will stay in this bill. I have made all the concessions to trusts and great protected industries that I shall make. I have gone to the limit. I see what is in the newspapers as well as others. There will be amendments. I am ready to make amendments of a certain character—for example, to the adminis- trative features of the measure. I would be willing even to adopt amendments to the administrative features of the income tax. But as to interfering with its vital- ity, its substance and its force, I never intend to yield. As to conceding further to the sugar trust or anything on the sub- ject of sugar, I never intend to go a hair farther. If I am overruled by my own party, I will go with any party unless there be something in it so flagrant and outrageous that it would not be prefera- ble to the existing law. In other words, as long as the measure before us is an improvement on the monstrous system of injustice now on the statute books, I will embrace it. But as to making fur- ther concessions for the benefit of trusts of of any other kind of protection in the direction indicated in the papers of the country, it may as well be known now as at any other time, that I shall not be a party to it."

Mr. Hawley (Rep.) of Connecticut re- ferred to the sectional character of the bill, saying that it had been matured substantially by three gentlemen—from west of the Mississippi. The bill had been made by men who did not know their own country. If they had the elements of a common humanity, to say nothing of generosity, they could not do some of the things which they proposed to do.

Mr. Hale (Rep.) of Maine undertook to put a question to Mr. Palmer of Illinois, as to whether the oil under discussion was the one that would be voted on, and inquired what Secretary Carlisle meant when he said in the newspaper interview that an effort was being made to agree upon such changes in the pending bill as would secure for the bill the united and active support of all the Democratic Senators.

Mr. Palmer's reply was: "If the Sen- ator desires to know what the Secretary of the Treasury means, let him ask the Secretary." (Laughter.)

Mr. Hale stated on what he called good authority, that some of the interviews that had been brought up in the Senate were not interviews picked upon by news- paper correspondents, but had been given out by the Senators themselves, with the request that they be published, and Mr. Chandler subsequently asserted that that was the case with Mr. Carlisle's inter- view, printed this morning. He had given it out, Mr. Chandler said, to the repre- sentatives of two press associations.

Mr. Chandler inquired of Mr. Harris when he could have the opportunity of making some remarks which he had kept bottled up since last Wednesday, and was told that the obstacle was the fact that the floor had been held for the last two weeks by Senators Quay and Dolph, who "farmed it out." He hoped that that con- dition of things would not survive to-day.

At this point in the proceedings Mr. Turple (Dem.) of Indiana rose, and in a voice quivering with passion, attacked Mr. Aldrich, charging him with having put forward "three lies, gross, palpable, three lies born, three lies of inconceiva- ble mendacity," that there were 200 amendments to be offered by the Finance committee; that the bill had never been considered by the committee; and that it was not the bill which would be finally presented for action.

The only notice which Mr. Aldrich took of this bitter attack upon him was a quiet remark that he did not suppose that the Senator from Indiana represented any- body but himself; and that under other circumstances and other conditions that Senator would not have made the speech he had just made. Mr. Quay then took the floor and delivered the third instal- ment of his speech against the tariff bill—assisted by Mr. Gallinger in the read- ing of statistics.

The Senate adjourned till noon to-mor- row, that hour having been fixed on to allow Senators to attend the funeral of the wife of Senator Morgan of Alabama.

HOUSE.

In the House to-day the resignation of Mr. Caldwell of Ohio was received and filed. The Senate bill appropriating $7,- 000 for the construction of a government bridge across the Niobrara river, Ne- braska, was passed and a resolution re- questing the fish commission to inquire into alleged destruction of fish in the Wa- lash river by the flow of oil was agreed to. The army appropriation bill was con- sidered, and the bill passed. The House adjourned at 5:15 p. m.

Wolcott's Critics.

Denver, April 30.—At the regular Coli- seum meeting last night sarcastic refer- ences to Senator Wolcott were greeted with deafening cheering by the home re- servers and Populists. Resolutions were adopted with a shout requesting Senator Wolcott to resign, and give the "patriot and venerable governor an opportunity to appoint a successor who will be for the people."

Governor Waite at the opening of the new Trades Assembly hall stated that such organizations as the Coxey army seem to be the only means of reaching Congress, and that our representatives dare not refuse them a hearing.

Aspen sends out a violent set of resolu- tions condemning Senator Wolcott as a villifier, a liar and a traitor and a repre- sentative of the corporate interests. From the new gold camp of La Plata come sim- ilar resolutions. The conservative busi- ness men condemn the Coxey movement as unwise and liable to injure the best in- terests of the State in its silver fight.

The movement is aimed at all employers who locked out the union building trades men recently. Nearly half the entire force of painters in the city are out. The plan of the strikers is to remain out until all the demands of the union are con- ceded. One hundred gravel roofers also struck to-day to enforce their demand for 30 cents an hour.

A Severe Storm.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 30.—Webster county was visited by a heavy hail and wind storm last night. George Hanson and his wife, while crossing the railroad tracks were so blinded by the storm that they could not see a train, which ran over them, killing both. Almost all the win- dows in the town of Ellsworth were shat- tered.

Slaughter Bassett's Death.

Slaughter Bassett, the mining broker, died yesterday morning at 2:45 from the injuries received by being thrown from his horse on Friday last. For a time it was supposed that he would recover but it soon became evident that an operation would have to be perform- ed to relieve the pressure on the brain. This was done on Sunday but it failed to bring the needed relief, and his death followed during the night. Mr. Bassett was about 33 years of age and leaves a wife but no child- ren to mourn him.

Mr. Bassett came to this city over two years ago for the benefit of his health and becoming somewhat restored went into the mining brokerage business. He formed a partnership with Mr. Fitzpatrick to do a general real estate and brokerage business. During the past winter Mr. Fitzpatrick re- tired and since then Mr. Bassett has devoted his time exclusively to the mining business in which he has been eminently successful. Mr. Bassett was a good business man, a gen- ial gentleman at all times and during his residence here made many warm friends. He will be greatly missed both in the busi- ness and social circles of the city. His wife and family have the sympathy of the entire community, which is rendered more sad by the tragic ending.

Mr. Bassett came here from Lexington, Ky., his native city. He was a member of the firm of Bassett & Son, extensive whole- sale boot and shoe dealers of Lexington. He was still a member of the firm at the time of his death. Mr. Bassett's father will arrive this morning and the remains will be taken east this evening for burial. A short service will be held at the residence, corner Cache la Poudre and Weber streets, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, to which the friends are in- vited.

William L. Weed Dead.

Mr. Wm. L. Weed, one of the pioneer res- idents of Colorado Springs, died in this city last evening at 6 o'clock, aged 80 years. Mr. Weed came here among the very first and built the old Pike's Peak mill, which burned last fall. He conducted a milling business here for many years. His death resulted from paralysis with which he had suffered for many years. Mr. Weed's aged wife died last March.

The funeral will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of his son-in- law, Fred Theobold, 620 South Tejon street.

Killed at the Tunnel.

Dr. Marlow returned yesterday from a trip to the Midland Terminal tunnel, where he investigated the death of a man named Patrick Foley, who was killed Saturday night. The men on the night shift were pre- paring to put in some blasts and about 10 o'clock Foley was sent out after some powder and caps. A few minutes latter the men heard an explosion, and going out found the unfortunate man blown to pieces. No one knew how the accident occurred. It is not known whether Foley had a family or not. He had about $1,500 in one of the Cripple Banks a few days ago, but that had been drawn out. The remains were taken to Cripple Creek. The coroner did not deem an inquest necessary.

This Morning.

The chart for the sale of reserved seats to the entertainment at the Auditorium Friday evening next will be open at Hext & Will- iams's music store this (Tuesday) morning. Mention has already been made of the at- traction of Miss Susie Carpenter, the gifted young elocutionist and Delsartean artist of Denver. Here is a tribute from an exchange:

"Miss Carpenter in the rendition of sev- eral dialect poems last evening, won long- continued and tumultuous applause. That she has talents in elocution far beyond the ordinary, no one who has heard her will que- tion; young as she is she shows rare genius and best of training."

The ever-popular M. O. Barnes (Glee club will be on hand, as well as the Barnes-Casser orchestra, to furnish a portion of the musical numbers. Other local talent will also ap- pear. The admission will be 25 cents, with- out extra charge for reserved seats.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

Latest News from El Paso's Great Gold Camp.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

Cripple Creek, April 30.—It was left for the last day of April to bring to the Cripple Creek mining district the most severe snow storm that has visited this section since Oct. 12, 1892. The storm set in Sunday, but did reach its height until early this morning and then now fell several hours. The wind blew and the snow fell after the manner of a gen- uine northwestern blizzard. There has not been a day during the winter that the stages failed to arrive on time at the park, but this morning Kuykendall's drivers, after reach- ing the summit of the hill found it would be impossible. Their horses stretched out and so they returned to the village. The noon stages came in all right from Midland, al- though a trifle late, but at 4 o'clock the sun was out and everything moved out again on time. Also about ten inches of snow fell in town, but high up in the hills there was much more snow. It is unnecessary to say that there will be little or none of it left by to- morrow night.

The Canon City and Cripple Creek Stage Line company has turned over its mail con- tract to Messrs. Swanson & McKissick who will carry it on buck-boards. Naturally they will pick up all the passenger travel they can get.

W. H. Fullen has been appointed agent of the Denver & Rio Grande express company and will to-morrow open an office in the Martin & Hanlin block on Second street.

The six sprightly horses driven to the big concord coach on the Canon City & Cripple Creek stage line all went over the embank- ment a short distance this side of the toll gate Sunday afternoon. There were several passengers in the coach at the time but mir- aculously the wagon remained in the road.

The Canon City & Cripple Creek Stage line ran its last coach into this city to-night, when all the stock and equipments of the road passed into the hands of the Kuykendall Transportation company, who will use the new purchase, after better stocking and equipping the line between Cripple Creek and Wilbur, a new station on the Florence & Cripple Creek railroad.

The Abe Lincoln on Raven hill directly east of the Elkton is reported to have broken into 4 feet of sylvanite ore. The property is being worked under lease and bond by Judge Darrow.

Porphyry dykes coming up through the granite are now all the rage and where val- ues of a few dollars can be had some pros- pectors put a price on their property that would at once make it take rank as a bonanza.

President Bartlett of the Caledonia Gold Mining company to-day let a contract to sink a vertical shaft on his property to the depth of 100 feet. It is said that the price to be paid per foot is less than $7.

General Sander, commander-in-chief of the Cripple Creeks contingent of the Coxey Industrial army, called a meeting number- ing 500 people to order at the flag pole in this city at 2 o'clock. After a few preli- minary remarks he introduced Mr. Clint Brainard to the audience, who made a few descul- tory remarks and told a number of good stories. Mr. Brainard was followed by W. S. Montgomery, whose remarks were in much the same strain as the gentleman he followed. General Sanders then announced that recruits would be received at the small building at the new fire station and by night 110 names in all had been enrolled. To-day the list was swelled to 139. It is the inten- tion of the commanding officer to have a drill of his men to-morrow afternoon and if nothing happens they will take up the line of march to Washington on Thursday.

Miss Ella Smith, a sister of Al Collins, the man who was believed to have made a mur- derous assault on James Drury on Friday night, in the lodging house opposite the Pal- ace, and who was arrested and later on broke jail, was taken in charge this after- noon on a warrant sworn out by Deputy Sheriff Mullins. The offense Miss Smith is charged with is a grave one. It is alleged that she is doing her best to drive out of town all persons who might appear against her brother. The trial is to take place to- morrow morning before Justice Burton.

Dr. Nourse To-night.

The distinguished dramatic orator, Rob- ert Nource, of Washington, D. C., will de- liver his famous lecture, "The Bells," at the First Baptist church to-night. "The Bells" is Henry Irving's masterpiece, and Dr. Nourse analyzes it like a philosopher, and by it shows the psychological effect of a great crime.

He delivered this great lecture last night at the Trinity church, Denver, to a large audience.

Dr. Nourse is well known to several of our prominent citizens among them Wm. A. Lloyd, the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who says that several years ago he secured him to deliver one of a course of lectures at Glen Falls, N. Y., where his lecture was well patronized and great- ly enjoyed. In many cities the "Standing Room Only" sign is out an hour before he begins.

He is one of the lecturers in the Red- path Lyceum Bureau course, which is a sufficient endorsement of his high stand- ing and ability as an orator.

In many places where he has lectured he has been repeatedly recalled, so great has been the satisfaction given. Those who fail to hear him will miss a rare literary treat.

Tickets can be secured at Hext & Wil- liams, or purchased at the church door. The lecture begins at 8 o'clock.

POPULISM AND COXEYISM

The Populist party seems to be inclined to adopt the Coxeyites and to become their champion. The utterances of the Populist members of Congress, and the action of Governor Waite and other Populist officials, point to this conclusion. The Populist party is largely responsible for the condition of affairs that now exists. Its members repudiate Mr. Cleveland, and yet they helped to elect him; "a vote for Weaver was a vote for Cleveland." Furthermore, by their demagogic harangues, and their assaults upon property wherever they have been in power, they have prevented the investment of capital, and thrown thousands of men out of employment. Now they are seeking to cure the evil by more harangues, and by encouraging men that are out of work to stay out.

Everybody is agreed that the times are more or less out of joint; but it will not help to get them set right to march on Washington. The remedy is at the ballot-box. The people who are now marching on Washington voted two years ago for a change; they got it. Now they have got it they don't like it. But they are taking the wrong way to get a change made back again. The only way to do that is the same way they took before by their votes. Their votes will count at Washington, and they only injure their cause by trying to form themselves into a permanent proletariat.

RAILWAYS, PROSPERITY AND TAXES.

A recent paragraph in the Railway World offers a very significant suggestion on the present situation when it says:

The extraordinary depression of industries is indicated by the fact that a single railway system, the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe, reports for the eight months to March 1 a comparative decrease of $1,660,302 in gross earnings and $1,013,032 in net, while for the single month of February the loss in gross earnings was $828,164 and in net earnings $319,600. When the railways suffer from reduced receipts the public suffers from reduced expenditures by them. During the eight months this one company diminished its disbursements no less than $2,057,570, and in the one month of February it paid out $178,564 less than in the same month last year. Of course, the communities into which this company pours back the money it receives for its services as a public carrier suffer greatly from the shrinkage in its stream of benefactions. Labor, which represents two-thirds of a railway's operating expenses, has heavily felt the loss, in enforced reductions in number and pay of men; merchants and farmers have felt it in the decrease of purchasing power of the employees, and manufacturers and sellers of railway supplies, with those whom they support, have suffered from the embarrassment of a great customer. If this company, with influences so far-reaching, had received a tenth of a cent more per mile for transportation its painfully enforced economies might have been spared, and yet the public would not have felt the widely distributed increase.

It is certainly worth while to consider whether the same self-interest which prompts a community to seek as urgently as possible the construction of a new railroad and to invite its coming, does not demand equally that when it has come it should be allowed to do business at rates that are not ruinous. The difference in rate of a small fraction of a cent is insignificant to the people, but the concentration of that difference in one concern indentified thoroughly and permanently with the country it traverses—more permanently than any man can be, because it does not die—is certainly of the greatest advantage to any section. A prosperous railroad always spends yearly in new capital more than all the interest and dividends it pays to its owners.

The present tariff bill seeks to tax railways largely in addition to the amount of their taxes at present. The States now depend to a considerable extent for their revenues upon the taxation of railway property. The inclusion of this sort of property in the objects of national taxation may cut off a source of revenue upon which the States have depended, or force more railways into the hands of receivers. Neither alternative is a pleasant one to contemplate.

The original Coxey army has got to Washington and gone into camp after the manner of a circus, with the usual accompaniment of side shows and peanut stands. Coxey himself, and his lieutenant Browne, seem to be genuine cranks. Browne has it in his head that this movement is the fulfillment of one of the prophecies in the Revelation. Where a man gets the "beast" with ten horses into his head, and the "time and times and half a time," further rational speech can hardly be expected of him.

Yesterday's Denver Republican contained the following editorial: "Harmony and hard work must be substituted for discord and factional strife if the Republican party expects to redeem Colorado from the curse of Populist misrule next fall." This is true enough, but a little more action to this end in Denver and a good deal less talk would be more to the purpose. The party in the [illegible] outside of Denver is all right. That city is the only place we know of where faction fights are going on.

Kelly's army is having such a good time in Iowa that we should think it would want to stay there, and be fed and fefed indefinitely. It might wear out its welcome after a while, though, so perhaps it is just as well to move on to fresh fields and pastures new.

The destruction of the great St. Charles hotel in New Orleans emphasizes again the necessity of building all large hotels in great cities as nearly fireproof as modern science can make them.

We had a good deal of weather yesterday in a short time. April went out like a lion, raging and roaring. But the rain was welcome, and a little more of it would do no harm.

We commiserate Pueblo on the infliction it will have to undergo on the fourth of September. A Populist State convention is not a desirable visitor.

Head Measurements.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

Mr. Gladstone's head measures exactly 24 inches round, with an inch take, which makes the diameter, or the size that hatters go by, eight; and is a size that most hatters would find difficult to fit unless they had 10 days' notice before hand. The venerable English statesman often lays the top of his silk hat as a deskboard in delivering some of his extended speeches, which compels him occasionally to have the shining cylinder redressed. The heads of Lord Macaulay and General Grant are the same dimensions as the preceding; the heads are exceeded by the monster headed Scotch financier, Joseph Hume, M. P., whose head size is 8 1-2, or about 20 sizes larger than the average murderer.

Too Much.

He was the picture of woe.
His eyes rested upon the shifting throng outside his window.
With yearning look he followed the ebb and flow of humanity.
He was alone.
Suddenly his brow grew stern.
"Let them shrink away," he muttered.
Presently he stood upon the crowded thoroughfare. He knew that men looked at him askance and hurried forward.
"Let them shrink away."
He walked as one in a dream. Accusing glances met him at every turn. But he was desperate.
"Let them shrink away."
Yet his stout heart quailed. It was too much. His resolutions fled. With a wild cry he ran, nor stopped until he was hidden.
"I didn't think they'd shrink so much," he bitterly mused as he removed his cotton flannel trousers.
Newly attired, he went forth into the wet world again. Detroit Tribune.

More Important Business.

"Did you win, Cyrus?" asked his wife.
"Did I win?" said the village lawyer cautingly as he threw himself on the lounge and wiped his heated brow. "Well, I should rather think I did. I beat him 27 games of checkers out of 30, and"
"Yes, but I mean did you win that case before Squire Ford?"
"Oh, I forgot all about that case!" Chicago Tribune.

A Comparison.

Old Funnyman (at boarding house breakfast table) This chop, Mrs. Hashley, is quite appropriate to this weather.
"Indeed, Mr. Funnyman?"
"Yes. So very raw, you know."
"And I think this weather will also go well with your last month's board bill, Mr. Funnyman."
"Ah! How so, Mrs. Hashley?"
"Unsettled, Mr. Funnyman." B., K. & Co.'s Monthly.
